From the P R E S I D E N T

This is my first message to you as president of Maryland TAMS. Thanks are due to all of you who have put your trust in me. I hope to follow in the footsteps of our other fine presidents: Mill Hajek, Bob Ruby and Russ Sears. Together we can continue to make our organization one of the finest of its kind in the country.

After serving as Journal editors for the last four years, Jane and Russ Sears have turned over editorship to Will Mumford. We all can help make Will's job easier by contributing articles about our hobby. As Russ has stated, our journal is the heart of our society - get involved!

Our next meeting will be held in conjunction with the Metro-Washington Convention at the Sheraton Inn in New Carrollton on Saturday, July 11, from 11:00 a.m. to 2:00 p.m. Ed Lanham will give a talk on collecting dog tags. Our meetings are always eventful, full of good talk, camaraderie, and information. The auction at the end of the meeting is one of the best places to obtain exnumia to add to your collection, and there is always the bourse of the adjoining coin show to peruse. If you have not attended a meeting lately, resolve to go to one soon; you'll be happy you did.

If you have not seen or bought a copy of the new Maryland Merchant Tokens catalog yet, then you are missing a real treat. Once again David Schenkman has done a masterful job. We all owe David a debt of gratitude and can feel proud that our state's catalog has been written by the best. If anyone finds any new discoveries of any unlisted Maryland tokens be sure to contact David so he can update his listings periodically.

Finally, plans are being made for our January meeting. So far, three possible meeting places have been suggested: The Maryland Historical Society, the main branch of the Enoch Pratt Library of Baltimore, and the Wilmington (Delaware) Coin Club Show. Please let me know if any of these sites interest you, or if you wish to propose a different site. The final decision should be announced in the next Journal.

Bill Miller

In Remembrance

Mr. Morris Adkins of Showell, Md., member number R 181, recently passed away. Mr. Adkins had attended his first Maryland TAMS meeting in January. He collected transportation tokens and tokens of the Eastern Shore. He will be greatly missed.

From The Editor

YOUR JOURNAL NEEDS YOUR SUPPORT!

It is an honor to follow in the footsteps of A. Vernon Taylor and Jane and Russ Sears as editor of the Maryland TAMS Journal. I will do my best to continue the excellent tradition. But I have some real concerns....

I am concerned about the quality of the journal... there are absolutely no backup articles waiting to hit the pages of the journal. Members must realize that this is YOUR journal and its success depends upon YOU! The articles are written by you.... not by the editor... although I'll sneak one in occasionally. We should all be motivated to do a little research now that the new Maryland Tokens book is out. Pick out your favorite token or one that is from your area and write what you know about that token. You may even want to do a little research in your local library, court house or city archives. Articles need not be long... even a paragraph or two will get the ball started. Others may want to add to your article or make comments. You may find new tokens which Schenkman missed...the journal will serve as a vehicle to report non-listed tokens.

Then again you may come across some interesting token articles in other publications which would be of interest to MD TAMS members. Send such articles to me with information concerning its source and an address from which we can get permission to reprint the article.

The Maryland TAMS Journal started with 20 pages and went as high as 35 pages per issue. Lately the journal has only been 10 to 12 pages... and only due to the great efforts of Russ and Jane Sears. Have we run out of things to say about our tokens?... I doubt it!... but we aren't writing about them. Everybody has something to say about their collections. Your favorite token; first person accounts or exciting finds; collecting specialties; unusual tokens...etc. You don't have to be a literary genius to put your thoughts or ideas in writing. We are not professionals, but rather amateurs putting together a journal for those who enjoy the art and science of exonumia. I will be glad to edit your article... after all that is the main function of an editor... Please give some serious thoughts to writing an article... YOUR journal needs YOUR support!

Historically Interesting.....

BURNING OF THE "PEGGY STEWART"

By Millard W. Hajek LM #1

England passed the Tea Act in 1773, stubbornly insisting on the principle of its right to tax the colonists. Overt resistance to the Act occurred in New York and Boston and later from other centers of colonial resistance such as Annapolis, where the tea ship, the "Peggy Stewart" was burned before a howling angry mob. The citizens of Annapolis, as one historian put it, "out-Bostoned Boston". The brig "Peggy Stewart", named after his daughter was owned by Anthony Stewart and his father-in-law James Dick, merchants of Annapolis. The brig arrived at the city on October 14, 1774, carrying, among other things, a consignment of tea that had been ordered by another local merchant house, Thomas Williams and Co. Stewart paid duty on the tea, because, he claimed, his vessel was in a leaky condition and needed immediate docking, which the customhouse would not permit until the duty had been paid. Also, there were fifty-three passengers aboard who were sick and exhausted and had to be set ashore at once. These explanations carried little weight with the hotheaded patriots in the community who gathered at a mass meeting on October 19th. These Annapolis patriots were incensed at such flagrant violation of the Non-Importation Association, demanded that the tea be destroyed. Stewart and the Williamses were publically penitent and offered to destroy the tea, but by now, spirits were running so high that even this sacrifice was not deemed a sufficient reparation. All this time at Stewarts home a few blocks away, his wife lay on the point of childbirth. Her father who was Stewart's business partner, at last took fright that the mob might attack the house itself and burn it down. Choosing the lesser of the two evils, he persuaded Stewart to set fire to the brig himself and destroy both it and its cargo. This he did forthwith, and the "Peggy Stewart" under full sail was burned to the water line. In Annapolis, the burning of the "Peggy Stewart" had become the symbol of the struggle for independence and a new spirit of resistance in Maryland.

8th ANNUAL MEETING

The Maryland Token and Medal Society held its eighth anniversary meeting on April 11, 1987. New officers were installed and the 1986 Literary Awards were presented. The Literary Awards are now named after the Journal's first editor, A. Vernon Taylor.

The Frank G. Duffield Award for Outstanding Service was presented for the first time to David Schenkman for his work on the Maryland Merchant Token book.

A special award for service was presented to Jane Sears for her work as Journal Editor from 1983 - 1987.

The meeting was attended by 25 members and 6 guests. As usual an auction followed the meeting. The pictures on the following pages were taken at the meeting.

GEORGE CUHAJ (R), Maryland TAMS Literary Awards Committee Chairman presents first place plaque in the MD TAMS A. Vernon Taylor Literary Award to Greg Ruby (L) for his article "The War of Albert's Head."

GEORGE CUHAJ (R), MD TAMS Literary Awards Committee Chairman presents second place plaque in MD TAMS A. Vernon Taylor Literary Award to Russ Sears (L) for his article on "Fred Bauernschmidt-Baltimore Brewer".

MARYLAND TAMS President Russ Sears (L), 1985-87, presents David Schenkman (R) the MD TAMS Frank G. Duffield Award for his work on the Maryland Merchant Token book. This is the first time the award has been given.

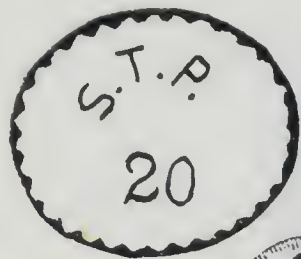

GEORGE CUHAJ (R), Maryland TAMS Literary Awards Committee Chairman presents third place plaque in the MD TAMS A. Vernon Taylor Literary Award to Jane Sears (L) for her article on "American Turners".

MARYLAND TAMS President Russ Sears (R) presents wife Jane Sears (L) a special Award of Thanks for her outstanding work as Editor of the Maryland TAMS Journal.

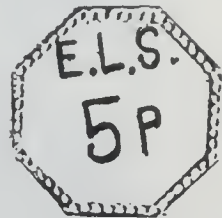

MD TAMS newly elected President Bill Miller (R) presents Award of Appreciation to outgoing President Russ Sears (L).

Chicken Fer Pickers

MD TAMS LM-18

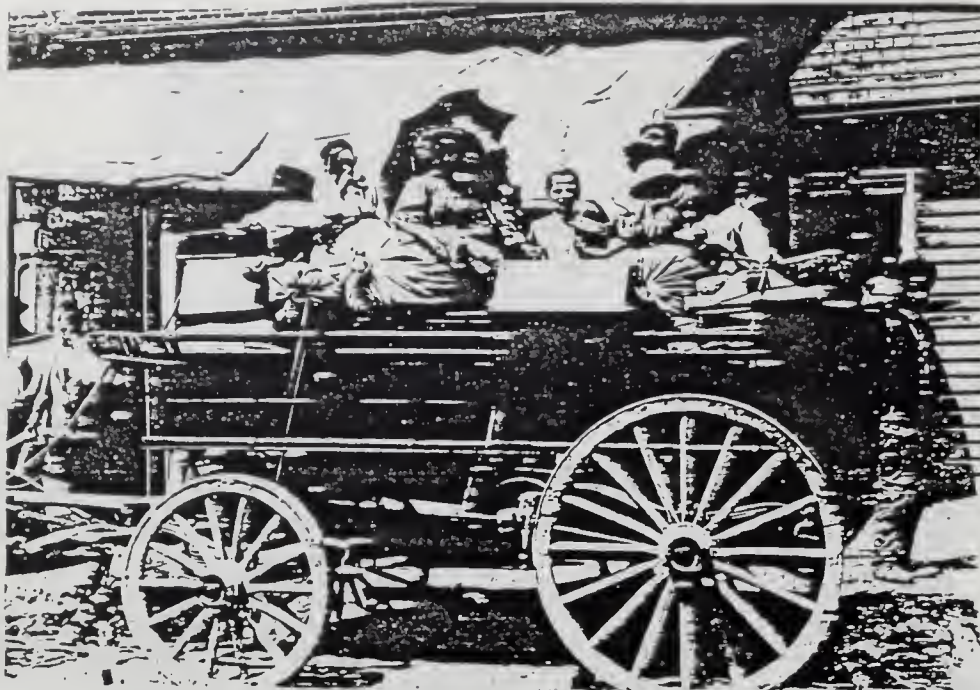

A Continuing Study of Anne Arundel County Farm Pickers Checks.

Thanks to the National Child Labor Commission which campaigned for child labor laws back in the early 1900's, we have actual photos of a Maryland truck farm with Polish "pickers" from Baltimore. Lewis Hines was commissioned by the Child Labor Committee to take a series of photographs of situations which involved child labor. The truck farms qualified. The following photographs were taken in 1909 and 1910 by Lewis Hines in Baltimore and on the "Bottomley" farm in Anne Arundel County. The photos are from the Library of Congress photo collection and most of them have never been published. Some of them will be used in the Picker Check sequel to the Schenkman book on Maryland Merchant Tokens. The captions came with the photos and were probably written by Lewis Hines.

VOLKSMARCH.....

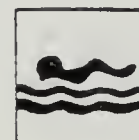

By Millard W. Hajek

LM # 1.

What is a Volksmarch? A Volksmarch, or "people walk" is an organized hike where participants walk at their own pace. Volksmarching is an exciting new sport in the United States. It's aim is to get people of any age, sex or athletic ability out-of-doors to exercise non-competitively in an event where "EVERYONE IS A WINNER". The entire family can participate by merely coming out and walking at their own pace along a well marked trail with rest areas. These trails are usually in scenic or historical areas and are usually a ten kilometer (6.2 miles) course.

Volksmarches are the most popular of the four sports which make up the family of volkssports which supports physical fitness and health. The term volkssport literally means a sport of the people. Walking (volksmarches), biking, cross-country skiing and swimming are the four events in the volkssport family.

My wife and I recently participated in a Volksmarch on March 14, 1987, sponsored by the Columbia Volksmarch Club. The hike started and finished in Cedar Lane Park, Howard County, Maryland and meandered through Columbia for ten kilometers or 6.2 miles. A $4.00 per person preregistration fee (or a $5.00 fee at the event) entitles individuals who complete the walk to a medal and credit towards an events certificate and a distance certificate. Also available to volksmarchers were a very colorful patch for $3.00.

The first three volksmarches for 1987 sponsored by the Columbia Volksmarch Club commemorate the bicentennial of the United States Constitution and salute the three Maryland signers of that historic document. Below is the badge made of pewter presented at the Volksmarch on March 14-15, 1987.

UNITED STATES MAVERICK TOKENS

Compiled by John Sena

There isn't anything more frustrating to token collectors than to have an unattributed token. One cannot place a value on any token until you know where it came from. Many collectors look down upon mavericks, but with a proper attribution backed up by trustworthy documentation, a maverick token is equal to any self identified variety.

The material contained in Mr. Sena's catalog was gathered from numerous catalogs, articles, and other token volumes. Mr. Sena states the purpose of his catalog is to help attribute mavericks. After you have used his listings to help locate the token, he recommends that you consult the proper catalog to get a more comprehensive background on the piece. He includes a bibliography that is found in the rear of his work.

The tokens covered in his work are listed alphabetically by sir name or by the first non-article word of the business name. Tokens bearing both the business name and a personal name were listed under the business name. The catalog does not list transportation, coal, or military tokens since these fields have all been well covered in other works. In Mr. Sena's listings, he has used the standard abbreviations found in almost all token books concerning sizes, metallic content, etc.

The book is of paperback construction in an 8 x 11 format. 290 pages are devoted to the various listings followed by the bibliography and other notes. The catalog is available directly from Mr. Sena at P.O. Box 57002, Tucson, Arizona 85732. The price is $17.50 including postage.
